BULLETIN
U. S. SUBMARINE BASE, Key West, Fla., Nov. 18.—(INS)—Presidential aides made it known today that the next move in the threatened nationwide soft coal strike is up to United Mine Worker President John L. Lewis.

President Truman will take appropriate action if Lewis goes through with his strike threat.

U. S. SUBMARINE BASE, Key West, Fla., Nov. 18.—President Truman will put the finishing touches on the first draft of his highly important "state of the union" message to the congress during his sojourn in Southern Florida.

The chief executive's annual message, which he will deliver when the new congress convenes in January, is already under preparation.

This year's message is particularly crucial in importance for the president will face a congress dominated by the Republican party.

Future At Stake

Mr. Truman realizes that the next two years will decide not only his own political future and perhaps the future of the Democratic party for some time to come, but may decide whether the nation is to have a period of continuing prosperity or a depression.

For these reasons, the president is devoting an unusual amount of deliberation to the message to the new Republican-controlled congress.

Last year's state of the union message was combined with the annual budget message. It proved to be the bulkiest on record. In many ways it was unwieldy and difficult to digest.

This year's message is expected to

PA NEW OBSERVES

Transient traffic is making good use of the newly opened Spur Route No. 422, Pa. New, today, Saturday afternoon. Many of the trucks and other vehicles that formerly used East Washington street, are now traveling up Taylor street, relieving congestion on the main thoroughfare.

Churches of the city are making preparation for Christmas, especially in the Sunday schools. Pa. New notes. On Sunday, many of the boys and girls received their recitations for the annual Christmas programs that are put on by most churches. Most every church in the city plans to give out a treat this year, although the quality of the candy will be limited, due to the sugar ration.

Ashes, snow fences, etc., are in place, and the Lawrence County Highway department is getting set for the annual battle with snow and ice of the local roads. So far this season there has been no snow, a condition that is unusual. In many former years some heavy snows had been encountered by this period of the year.

Groups of girls garbed in white head squares gave an Arabian touch to the crowds of students that converge on the high school these mornings. On one like this morning, they emphasize the frost motif effectively, too.

Five Major Powers Ponder Veto Issue

By GEORGE DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The world's five major powers—the United States, Soviet Russia, Great Britain, France and China—went to a huddle today on their future use of the veto in the all-powerful United Nations Security Council.

They were meeting in an effort to solve the problem themselves and thereby stem a rising tide of revolt among the smaller members of the United Nations.

Top-flight spokesmen participated in the debate, including American Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, France's Alexandre Parodi, and China's Dr. Wellington Koo.

Proposal By French

Basis of their discussion was a proposal laid down by Parodi. In brief, the French spokesman made two suggestions:

1. In the future, the Big Five will confine their right of veto to (Continued on Page Two)

Thousand Out Of 2500 Married Veterans Here Living In Doubled Up Quarters

SITUATION BETTER DECLARES HUTTON

Results of a census survey released today by R. B. Hutton, National Housing Agency expediter in New Castle, showed that 1000 out of 2500 married veterans here were doubling up with relatives or friends, or were living in rented rooms, trailers or tourist cabins.

The survey was made in July by the Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce, at the request of the NHA. The report indicated that many veterans were staying out of the housing market because they were unable to find suitable places at prices they could afford to pay.

Situation Improves

"Since the survey was completed, the housing situation in New Castle has noticeably improved," Hutton said. "Key materials are available in greater and greater quantities, and some houses are being rushed to completion. In spite of all our (Continued on Page Two)

Police-Chase Bullet Kills Sleeping Man

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 18.—(INS)—Michigan state police are investigating a police-chase shooting which killed a 71-year-old man sleeping in his Flint home today.

State police identified the victim as Ray Green.

According to police reports, the shooting started while two Flint police cruisers were chasing an allegedly stolen car.

As the chase passed the Green home, investigators said, officers in both cars fired. One of the bullets ricocheted off a wall and entered the bedroom where Green and his wife, Grace, 55, were sleeping.

Mrs. Green suffered facial injuries when a splinter of a venetian blind struck her.

Police said a 15-year-old girl riding in the reportedly stolen car is being held for questioning. A teenage boy, who was driving, fled when police ended the chase at Dodge road.

New Weatherman Arrives With First Freezing Weather

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A new weatherman blew into Pittsburgh today and brought with him freezing weather for the first time this year.

Ironically, Henry Rockwood, the new meteorologist, arrived on the "Sunshine Special", a crack rail-road flyer from Mexico City.

He cheerfully admitted the timing of his arrival with the current cold front might be an ill omen for Pittsburgh this winter.

"The first year I went to Fort Worth, Tex.," he recalled, "the temperature fell below freezing for 16 days, a new record for that area."

Rockwood is returning for his second assignment in Pittsburgh. He lived here for two years while framing the city's flood-forecasting program prior to taking up his work in Texas in 1939.

Have Little Hope For Survivors In Army Plane Crash

TOKYO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Little hope was held out today for any survivors in the crash of an army transport carrying 23 military personnel which crashed into the ocean Saturday night off two Jima.

Twentieth Airforce officials at Guam announced only small bits of wreckage had been picked up by an LST rushed to the scene of the crash.

The transport, a C-46, was enroute from Guam to two Jima. The pilot contacted the two radio station five miles out and the plane was followed by radar scope through a 360-degree turn until it crashed.

Although hope that any survivors might be found was slight, search was being continued. Persons aboard included 15 military passengers plus a crew of eight. The names of the 23 were withheld pending a further search.

Nome Suffers Damage From Heavy Storm

CENTRAL WASHINGTON ALSO HAVING WORST STORM OF RECENT YEARS

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Nome was digging out today from extensive damage, including a wrecked plant, as high winds and heavy, ice-filled seas subsided after battering waterfront buildings in the city's second winter gale in a month.

No casualties were mentioned in scanty reports Sunday. In October two lives were lost in wreckage of a hotel which collapsed when belkheads were washed out by waves.

In addition to the wrecked plant, damage was done Sunday to the Merchants Bank building, the Lomen Commercial building and warehouse, the city hall, a theatre, bar and bakery.

WENATCHEE, Wash., Nov. 18.—(INS)—Wenatchee today was buried under 12 inches of snow, which was still falling at the rate of an inch an hour in some parts of central Washington in the worst storm in recent years.

The Great Northern Railway reported its trains delayed in north-central Washington. Northwest Airlines planes were grounded at Wenatchee but were landing on schedule at Seattle, Spokane and Yakima.

Will Widen Part Of Sampson St.

Council proposes to have introduced in the near future a bill which will authorize the widening of Sampson street between the city line and Rebecca street. The city agreed to do this and also to pay the damages, when Sampson street was made a part of route 422 by the State Highway Department.

The bill will condemn certain lands and permit a compromise of settlement of claims for damages where such compromises and settlement can be made.

The lands affected are those of J. W. Cheeseman, Thomas V. Plant (now the County of Lawrence), Grasselli Chemical company and heirs of Mary Mitolo.

The bill will also provide for the assessment of costs and damages for the payment thereof.

Bilbo Hearing Witnesses Are To Be Guarded

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Senate campaign investigating committee sources said today that secret plans are being made to safeguard witnesses who testify in the committee's Mississippi hearings on election complaints against Sen. Bilbo (D-Miss).

It was said that the undercover plans involve "both state and federal authorities."

At the same time the senate was investigating committee expected to discuss today the progress of its investigation of charges that Bilbo accepted gifts from war contractors in 1942.

If the Kilgore committee holds hearings on these accusations it probably will be in Washington, a member said.

The campaign investigating committee will open hearings in Jackson Dec. 2 on complaints that Bilbo's speeches frightened negroes away from the polls in the June Democratic primary in which he was renominated.

Government And Lewis Preparing For Strike Battle

Fear One Of Nation's Worst Coal Strikes Is Now Fast Looming

MANY MINERS ARE JUMPING GUN

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Federal Judge Allan Goldsborough today signed a temporary restraining order against strike by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Union scheduled to begin at midnight, Wednesday.

The justice department announced the action at 1:15 p. m. EST as thousands of miners left their jobs three days ahead of the strike deadline set by the UMW president.

A justice department spokesman announced:

"A temporary restraining order has just been signed by Justice Allan Goldsborough against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers Union upon the government's application."

The court order, which will expire at 3 p. m. Nov. 27 unless extended, was set for a hearing at 10 a. m. on that day.

The restraining order was requested by Krug, Secretary of War Patterson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Production Chief John D. Small, the U. S. Maritime Commission, the U. S. Public Health Service and the Office of Defense Transportation.

Delivers Sermon

Rev. Fr. Francis M. McCarther delivered an appropriate sermon during the services, challenging the living buddies of the war to fight another battle—God's battle; to put forth an effort and live by the highest of ideals. Fr. McCarther urged the men to meet their obligations like fighting men, and not to "sheath" their fighting sword until the battle for God was won.

Following mass a communion breakfast was served at The Castleton to a crowd of approximately 150.

Rev. Fr. Francis King gave the invocation and Rev. Fr. Ignatius Koller the benediction.

In his brief remarks at the conclusion of the breakfast Fr. King told the guests of the organizations and the returned veterans—you must remain children of God and live in peace and union with your fellowmen regardless of race, color and creed in order to complete the excellent work you have done in the past battle you have just won.

"Raise your eyes above the horizon," he said.

Directs Notices Be Posted

Following up his order freezing all soft coal stocks, Krug directed this notice to be posted at all mines:

"This mine is in government possession and will remain open. Your contract with the government remains effective as if very plainly says, for the period of government possession." The government and all the people of the country expect the miners to honor their contract and to mine the coal which the nation needs."

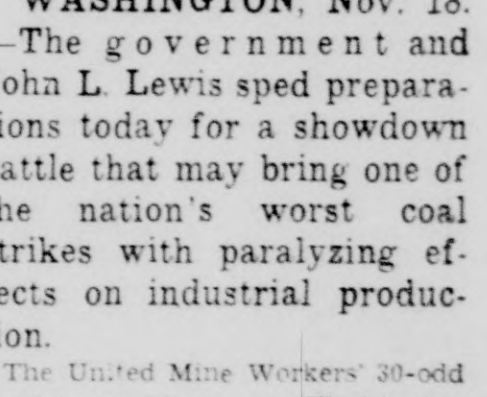

A spokesman for Lewis said the mine chief had "no comment" on Krug's action. The UMW president has remained silent since Friday when he rejected President Truman's appeal for a 60-day "truce" and resumption of contract negotiations with bituminous operators.

Few Expect Miners To Work

Few officials believed, however, that the miners will continue at work beyond the deadline set by Lewis for termination of the exist-

Lesson In Appeasement

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, an organization representing the bituminous coal operators, recently wrote "It will be interesting to see what steps the government takes to protect the people from a coal shortage now that the government occupies the place of mine manager. There are many around Washington who consider this a challenge to the government's authority. At the same time it must be remembered that the government sought the role that it is now playing by taking the coal mines over almost a year after the shooting-war had ceased—look them and gave the union a contract involving a number of unsound principles as viewed by the coal mine owners. This is another lesson in appeasement. It is rather difficult to retrace the steps once taken without great danger to the dignity of the government."

It is time the American people realize that the real issue in the coal industry has gone beyond any question of wages, hours or working conditions. The very prestige of government is at stake. And so long as high government officials back down when faced by demands of a private organization—a single labor union—we can only look forward to continued disruption of the vital coal industry.

One very important fact developed by the long-standing soft coal difficulties is that government operation of the mines (which is no more and no less than nationalization or socialization of the mines), affords no guarantee whatsoever of an uninterrupted production of the nation's basic fuel supply. There is no magic in nationalization. A progressive coal industry, kept to the demands of the time, can only be achieved under private ownership—battered by labor laws and agreements which respect the rights of management no less than the rights of labor.

It Ends With Arbitration

Through 25 days of the strike of the Trans World Airline pilots tied up that large flying service over three continents. Rates of pay for pilots and co-pilots—a five-figure proposition—were chief causes of dispute, though there are various other questions involved.

Now the strike is ended. The demands of the flying personnel have not been settled. The termination is brought about by the agreement of management and pilots to submit their differences to arbitration, resuming operations meanwhile.

Why wasn't that sensible solution adopted in the first place, without a strike? The walkout has penalized a considerable number of employees, not pilots, who have had to stand by and lose wages. TWA, of course, has suffered setbacks financially.

All these observations are pertinent without regard to the rights or wrongs of the dispute. The cherished weapon of labor, the strike, hurts all concerned in it, reminds the Philadelphia Inquirer. Arbitration in this instance has been resorted to belatedly. But the damage has been done.

TWA lost approximately $2,000,000 a week for three and a half weeks. The 10,000 pilots obviously lost a substantial amount. So did the 150,000 non-flying workers.

The outcome adds material weight to the growing conviction that some fair method of adjudicating differences between management and workers such as the proposed system of labor courts must be found to avert strikes and to end the appalling waste of human values and industrial resources caused by them. They have long since taken on the character of a perilous national problem.

Navy Makes News

Two important announcements have been made by the Navy department. One revealed plans for reorganizing the command structure of the Navy, effective next January 1. The other confirmed reports that the Navy will send Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd to Antarctica early next month at the head of a large expedition.

Under the reorganization blueprint the numbered fleets of wartime will be replaced by two "task fleets" operating in the Atlantic and Pacific. Both will vary in size in order to cope with any "fast moving situation." Their commanders along with the commanders of such units as those designated Naval Forces Europe and Naval Forces Japan, will be responsible to the commanders-in-chief of the Atlantic and Pacific Fleets, who will be responsible in turn to the Chief of Operations. It is obvious that the lines of authority will be clear and simple under the new scheme.

If this announcement could be termed self-explanatory, the Navy department recognized that the other was less so. The stated aims of the expedition, which will comprise 13 ships and require the services of 4,000 men, are to furnish training in frigid waters and to "consolidate and develop" the results of the Byrd expedition of 1939-41. Admiral Byrd emphatically denied that the venture represents an American entry in an international race for control of the Antarctic continent.

But the British have had an expedition there since 1942. The Russians have said they will send one, and the Norwegians are also reported to have one in mind. It looks as though the Navy at least means to find out definitely whether there is anything down there, including uranium, to make it worth while to assert a claim. If there is, certainly a claim will be made.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILD'S

Magnitude Of G. O. P. Sweep Being Revealed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — The Republican sweep in the election this year has been compared with what happened in 1930 when the Democrats started their come-back. But what happened this time is of so much greater magnitude that it compares with 1930 as a tidal wave does to a thunderstorm.

The majority of the total vote rolled up by the Republicans was so great that for comparison, one must go to the majorities which President Roosevelt piled up in the heyday of his popularity.

Statistician Louis H. Bean, an expert on election trends, estimates that the Republicans got 57 percent of the total vote cast on Nov. 5. This, of course, is based on unofficial figures. It compares with 46 percent cast for the Democrats in 1930. At the peak of his vote-getting ability—in 1936 Franklin Roosevelt received approximately 85 percent of all the votes cast.

Full-Taker Elmo Roper is more conservative in his estimate. He puts the percentage of the Republican vote on Nov. 5 at 54.8 percent. But Roper, too, points out that this is reminiscent of the Roosevelt majorities.

Deaths Gave Democrats A Majority

In 1930, the Democrats won 214 seats in the House, which left the Republicans with a majority of 135 seats. But before the new Congress could meet, 13 months later—that was before the lame-duck Congress had been abolished by constitutional amendment—enough Republicans had died and been replaced by Democrats to give the latter a narrow working majority.

It was then that they organized the House and named John Garner as speaker.

As shown in Roper's figures, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan came out with by far the largest majority of any of the Republicans prominently mentioned as presidential candidates. He got 67.5 percent of the vote, which is better than two to one. While his opponent was by no means a strong candidate, Michigan is an industrial state in which the C. O. P. A. has been very active.

Next in line, but considerably behind Vandenberg, was Gov. Edward Tamm of Minnesota, who was running for the Senate with the backing of presidential candidate Harold Stassen. Tamm's vote-getting ability in the state, polled 61.4 percent of the vote.

Third was Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut, who got 58 percent of the vote in his home state. For about two hours we have been stalled at the entrance to the Raton Pass, more than 7,500 feet high. Ordinarily we would have crossed the Continental Divide, the Atlantic Slope, the Pacific from the Atlantic Slope.

But this is not "ordinarily." A blinding snowstorm has been raging since last night. All along the highway cars and trucks are stalled by the snow and banked roof-high against barns and houses. Cattle are seeking shelter against barns and fences, and the few human beings who are in sight are wrapped like Christmas bundles.

Such a trip as this gives you much food for thought.

Here we are, on a de luxe train, with every comfort and every convenience the human mind of the twentieth century has been able to devise.

Powerful Diesel monsters pull the train, with horsepower supposedly large enough to defy nature and to conquer the elements.

The cars are made of heavy steel and in them are hundreds of people, prosperous people most of them, each bent on his own business and each trying to impress the rest of the passengers with his or her prosperity and importance.

There are porters and waiters and stewards and trainmen, carefully trained to cater to their "extra-fare" charges. There are roast beef and duck and ham and eggs and plenty of butter and sugar for all. The dining car steward has just promised my wife and me some de-lishious brook trout for lunch, right out of a Colorado mountain stream.

But with all this we are stuck in the lounge car, where yesterday a lot of Hollywood and New York folks were sitting over their highballs and cocktails, chatting gaily and kidding each other.

There aren't very many people in the lounge car right now.

And the few that are there look anxious and worried.

They remind me a little of small children who bravely play cowboy and air and make a lot of noise.

But suddenly a thunderstorm comes up—and, lucky-split, the kids run into the house and to the welcome shelter of their mothers' arms.

Pretty soon, I hope, we'll be moving again, and getting into warmer New Mexico and Arizona and finally to California.

When that happens, all the scared little children will sit in the lounge car again, drinking highballs and cocktails, trying to impress the rest of the passengers with their importance and prosperity.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — The White House was reopened to tourists yesterday and children have gone through. Men seem to be afraid of getting trapped.

One woman said to her little boy "Well here you are in the White House!" The kid says "Yeah but I'm lucky . . . I can get right out again!"

You can get into four rooms of the White House without credentials, a letter from your congressman gets you into four more and for 265 electoral votes the place is yours.

Mr. Truman won't be around the White House for awhile . . . He decided to follow the swallows south.

The president will be away one week, the swallows will stay for the whole season . . . They don't have an opposition Congress to watch.

Anyway the president figured on getting a bit of sun . . . Might as well get burned now as later.

Sen. Taft is going to Central America on his vacation and Democrats are singing "Central America . . . Take him away!"

Great Game Of Politics

"But That Is The Way To Bet"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. IT is impossible to deny that political precedents, the split state of the Democratic party and the strong turn toward the Republicans in the recent election make a Republican president in 1948 far more likely than at any time since 1928.

The prospect at this time is that the nomination will be practically equivalent to election which, of course, means that the struggle in the Republican convention will be fiercer than for a generation past.

THUS, though it seems to most observers that the re-elected Governor Dewey is well in the lead—and some regard him as sure to be named—it is not surprising that advocates of other candidates should dispute this with great vigor. And it is quite certain that, if nominated, Mr. Dewey will have gone through a hard and bruising fight. There not only is not the slightest disposition to concede the prize to the gentleman from New York but there appears a determination to "gang up" on him.

WHETHER this can be done effectively so far as convention delegates are concerned depends upon developments of the next few months, but at the moment the effort is in behalf of Mr. Dewey with arguments against. On the favorable side are these—(1) That his success in carrying New York a second time for governor by a majority of 675,000—greater than ever given him by any other Republican—makes him the logical choice for the presidency.

On the other side, it is asserted that 675,000 Dewey majority makes no difference when contrasted with the showing of other Republicans in other states. For example, considering the size of the vote, Governor Martin of Pennsylvania won a greater victory with 600,000 of whom are or have been—public officials of real distinction. As for the Dewey popularity among the rank and file, that is held in offset by the lack of real warmth in his personality plus his unpopularity with the key politicians in the party. It is these rather than the mass who vote in the conventions and make the nominations.

The point is that the Republicans have never nominated a defeated presidential candidate is also made, though not many take stock in that. It being perfectly clear that in the past the reason the defeated candidates were not re-nominated was because they were not politically available and not because they had been defeated.

IN other words, while it is agreed that Governor Dewey's triumph was the most spectacular in the country, that he will have more votes than he delegates to start with and that he is defeated at the most formidable opposition—excluding the American Labor party, the Liberal party, the Democratic party, the CIO and the Communists—it is argued that there are various ways in which his nomination can be prevented in which he can win—or so they think.

There are adverse facts that Governor Dewey will not by any means have a majority on the first convention ballot and that the Republican National Committee chairman, Mr. Carroll Reese, is supposed to be pro-Taft.

IN addition it is possible (though not probably) that Governor Dewey may make some damaging pre-convention mistakes. At any rate, the only concession his opposition makes now is that, while he will not be nominated himself, he can name the nominee. All this and more in the way of Dewey disparagement is emanating from the anti-Dewey camps and will be echoed by the radical groups which he has so thoroughly beaten. Under the circumstances, it is natural. The value of the prize this time is so great that the idea of conceding it to the leader of the opposition is an advance cannot be tolerated. Mr. Dewey's intimates are fully aware of this, realize that there is a battle ahead, but their confidence is not lessened.

As the outstanding aspirant, they say, the governor is bound to be the shining target for the other, whose first concern must be to head him off. Nevertheless they think his position is fairly impregnable and meet the opposition forecasts with the old sporting proverb which says: "The race may not be to the swift nor the battle to the strong. But that is the way to bet."

GRANTING Governor Dewey's competence, the reply is that his record is no better than that of Senators Taft and Vandenberg, ex-Governor Stassen and Governor Warren, all of whom are or have been—public officials of real distinction. GRANTING Governor Dewey's competence, the reply is that his record is no better than that of Senators Taft and Vandenberg, ex-Governor Stassen and Governor Warren, all of whom are or have been—public officials of real distinction. As for the Dewey popularity among the rank and file, that is held in offset by the lack of real warmth in his personality plus his unpopularity with the key politicians in the party. It is these rather than the mass who vote in the conventions and make the nominations.

The point is that the Republicans have never nominated a defeated presidential candidate is also made, though not many take stock in that. It being perfectly clear that in the past the reason the defeated candidates were not re-nominated was because they were not politically available and not because they had been defeated.

IN other words, while it is agreed that Governor Dewey's triumph was the most spectacular in the country, that he will have more votes than he delegates to start with and that he is defeated at the most formidable opposition—excluding the American Labor party, the Liberal party, the Democratic party, the CIO and the Communists—it is argued that there are various ways in which his nomination can be prevented in which he can win—or so they think.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

ONE CAUSE OF POOR SLEEPING

Some young children old enough not to need any more night feeding get very hungry at night. Many a youngster eighteen months of age, or even two or three years old, does sleep poorly or has long periods of wakefulness at night because of hunger.

Some writers and not a few pediatricians merely advise giving the child food at night whenever he seems hungry then, without first considering his eating habits by day. In most cases of poor sleep at night because of hunger, the child's eating habits by day are almost surely poor.

One reason for the poor eating habits by day is too much emotional disturbance. The youngster may, from various causes, be jittery by day. He may grow too tired. He may be overstimulated by his parents or by other persons. His meals may be very unhappy because of his mother's unhappiness.

Greater than the other always is the effort at inducing him to eat. In this event, she nearly always is agitated and the child grows up in which case the child grows up in an emotionally and, in consequence, has a poorer appetite. As I have often said, unhappy emotions in the child at meals do tend to decrease his appetite and pile up eating problems in him that anything else. At night, after a period of sleep he is reposed, and his appetite may be very strong.

Wakefulness At Night

The youngster's wakefulness at night or his receiving food then becomes a nuisance to the mother. As a result, she may not get proper rest and sleep and, therefore, be less serene the following day with obvious consequence to the youngster's appetite then. So the trouble multiplies.

Just to feed this child when you suppose he is hungry may therefore prove only a temporary relief and in the long run lead to increasing problems.

If your child eighteen months, two, three, or four years of age, often awakens by night or sleeps very restlessly, have your doctor carefully go over him, and discuss with you his diet. Then consider his program by day. He needs an afternoon nap regularly, of course, else he will grow very tired and excited.

See that he has some outdoor fun but not for too long stretches. At the time that the radio is on most of the time while he is awake, and that adult voices are subdued. Look up his relations with other children, especially in the family. Does someone tease or bully him? May he be suffering from jealousy?

Most of all, consider his emotions at his mealtime and aim to set the stage so he will be calm and good-natured when Mr. Bulimic and good-natured when Mr. Sleep Problem may each be had in a stamped addressed envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Study your ways of controlling him and success at winning his cooperation. Be sure you fondle him abundantly, enjoy his companionship and make him feel emotionally secure.

Even with all the foregoing conditions rendered favorable, the child may still awaken from habit at certain regular times. If he does, let him cry himself to sleep, but be sure he is not beset with fears and that you are in easy hearing distance to make certain he could not suffocate in his struggles.

WASHINGTON—President Truman discusses the threatened coal strike. The government can not replace private management at the bargaining agent without interfering with true collective bargaining between management and labor.

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers, gives the signal for a walkout of soft coal mines at midnight. "We do not propose to be misled by the mine owners' offer of a new contract."

NEW YORK—Harold E. Stassen, possible Republican presidential candidate, asks boost in teachers' salaries. "No nation that is prosperous and civilized and free can afford to neglect the economic standing of its teachers in relation to its other occupations."

FORCES FROM WITHIN AND WITHOUT are spending enormous amounts of money, time and effort to push Federal COMPIULSORY Health Insurance onto the workers of America. Such a plan of taxing payrolls more than THREE BILLIONS of dollars a year, to be administered through a Washington bureau, would soon have "lay" bureaus throughout the country "raiding" your doctor's services.

Experience in other countries has proven that Federal COMPIULSORY Health Insurance completely upsets the QUALITY and progress of Medical Science, and adversely affects every phase of individual care. Doctors are doing everything humanly possible to extend the benefits of medicine to all the people. VOLUNTARY, inexpensive prepaid plans of medical care and hospitalization are NOW available to 100,000,000 U. S. citizens—and being daily extended. Ask your doctor about it. Alabamian Member Of Both Houses In U.S. Congress

John Sparkman Resigns To Become Senator But He Is Still On Payroll

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—There was conjecture on Capitol Hill Saturday over whether John J. Sparkman of Huntsville, Ala., will go down in American history as the only man to serve simultaneously as a member of both houses of congress.

Sparkman resigned Friday as a House member of both the 79th Congress and the incoming 80th Congress to become a United States senator.

However, Oca Thompson, Senate financial clerk, revealed that Sparkman had been a member of the Senate since November 6, when he went on the Senate payroll.

Sparkman, in his letter of resignation to House Speaker Rayburn, made it retroactive to November 5 to insure that he would not appear on both payrolls at the same time. What interested students of history, however, was the fact that although Sparkman became a senator November 6, he simultaneously remained a member of the House until November 15.

Sparkman's office disclosed that the Alabamian, in advance of resigning, advised the House disbursing office to take him off the payroll, effective November 5, and simultaneously requested the Senate financial clerk to place him on the Senate payroll the following day.

Thompson said he could not recall a similar instance, although numerous men have been elected to the Senate while still members of the House. Sparkman, however, was elected simultaneously to terms in both houses.

Bombings Finish Beer Union Truce

Cafe Demolished, Distributing Office Gutted As Bitter Dispute Continues

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A truce between AFL and CIO leaders in Pittsburgh's bitter beer war ended today as police investigated two bombings which partially demolished a cafe and gutted a beer distributor's office.

Police said a bomb was tossed into the cellar of a cafe owned by Frank Godrem causing an estimated $2,000 damage shortly after closing time Sunday morning.

An incendiary bomb was tossed into the offices of Ben Gollomb, a Pittsburgh distributor, gutting the establishment and forcing a family of five into the street, police reported.

No one was injured in either incident. Godrem told authorities that a man representing himself as a business agent for the bartenders' union had told him to quit selling Pittsburgh-made beer, "for else," Gollomb reported that his office windows had been smashed last week before the truce was called.

Meanwhile, all beer bottled by the three Pittsburgh breweries, was placed on a state-wide "blacklist" issued by AFL officials.

At the same time, Anthony J. Federoff, CIO regional director in Pittsburgh, agreed to meet with AFL representatives in Harrisburg Wednesday to seek a solution to the jurisdictional war over the control of brewery workers.

EXCHANGING WEDDING GIFTS

"A young man in our office married recently. Although we do not know the bride and were not invited to the wedding, we combined funds and sent her a set of dishes. In her "thank you" note, she informed us that she had exchanged our set for something else, inasmuch as they had received two other additional sets and had not the space to keep all three. Some say this is proper; others that it is not. What do you say?"

Answer: It is proper for the bride who has received duplicate gifts to ask one donor if she might exchange hers for something she lacks.

This is usually done among good friends or relatives who understand the situation better than mere acquaintances. The bride should graciously and diplomatically ask for permission to exchange a gift. Good friends sometimes give "exchange permission" along with a wedding gift.

The bride, in your case, should have invited you to visit her and at that time, if at all, explained her dilemma, giving you an opportunity to suggest that she exchange your dishes.

Question: Do you think beige is all right for an informal bride? I wanted blue but was unable to get it. If beige is good, what accessories should be used with it? For a "Rectory" wedding witnessed only by the immediate families, is it all right to send out announcements? If so, must they be sent to out-of-town friends only?

Answer: If beige is becoming, it would be most suitable. Combined with either brown or black accessories, it should make an ideal combination wedding-and-going-away dress. Announcements may be sent after any kind of marriage, especially one like yours, witnessed only by the families. They may be sent to all relatives and friends not invited to the wedding.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes.

Seek To Crush
British Leftist
Attack On Bevin

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Government whips called on their supporters today to deliver a crushing blow to rebellious Laborites in debate in the House of Commons over Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's foreign policy.

Even Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee was reported ready to take the floor to give Bevin the maximum of support in his talks with other members of the big four council of foreign ministers in New York.

Bevin was understood to have asked the prime minister for a vote of confidence to determine the extent of his parliamentary backing.

Parliamentary observers expressed the belief that the left wing revolt will be dispersed and Bevin's prestige abroad strengthened.

An indication that the rebels are retreating was given on the eve of the debate by one of their leaders, Konn Zilliacus.

Speaking in Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Zilliacus said his group will not vote a censure of the government.

He urged that Britain "play a leading part in world affairs by cutting loose from the United States."

Second Children's Play Here Friday

Play Of Historical And Cultural Significance To Be Presented As Second Of Series

As part of its yearly series of plays for children, the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre includes one of historical and cultural significance. This year "Titan, the Boy Painter" has been chosen by Grace Price, director, to fill this purpose.

The second in the series, it is sponsored here by the Federation Junior club, will be presented in the Senior High school auditorium Friday evening, November 22, at 7:30 p. m.

Story of the play is that of Titian Vecelli, later called Titan, one of the greatest Italian painters of the fifteenth century.

Due to the unprecedented success of the play at its premiere in the Children's Theatre of Palo Alto, Cal., a motion picture was made which has had national distribution through museums and schools interested in the finest children's entertainment.

An authentic musical background plan was velved for the original run of the play and will be used for the local presentation.

Peasant dances in the play were arranged by a professional choreographer.

EX-NAZI POLICE
LEADER WITNESS IN ROME TRIALS

ROME, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A former Nazi secret police commander was brought into the Palazzo Sapienza today to accuse two generals of the former German army of implication in the murder of 335 Italian hostages.

The SD official Lieut. Col. Hubert Kappler, was brought from prison in Austria to serve as the British prosecution's star witness against Col. Gen. Eberhart Von Mackensen, commander of the 14th Army, and Lieut. Gen. Kurt Melzer, occupation chief in Rome.

It is understood that Kappler, who commanded the battalion which carried out the massacre in the Ardennes caves in March, 1944, will stand trial later in a subsequent war crimes trial.

The hostages were executed in reprisal for the killing of 32 German soldiers by a bomb thrown by an unidentified person.

'Expendable' Kiss

Kissing his Australian fiancée, Norman Dale, on her arrival at San Francisco is Lt. John Blagov, USN, a member of Comdr. John Bulkeley's famous "They were expendable" PT-Boat squadron. Parted since 1943 when he was in Australia, the couple will wed in the chapel of the U. S. Navy Hospital, in San Francisco. (International)

Explain Soviet Abandonment Of Amtorg Company

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—State department officials Saturday interpreted the liquidation of the Soviet purchasing commission in the United States as in line with this country's policy of returning wartime trade to private channels.

No word has been received of the reported recall to Moscow of Mikhail Gusev, chief of the Amtorg Trading Corp., for the past five years.

It was already known, however, that I. A. Fremin, who headed the Soviet Purchasing commission here during the war, had taken over Gusev's duties.

The State department has been working ever since the war's end to eliminate government purchasing agencies to turn international trade back to private channels.

Only recently it was suggested that in cases like the Soviet Union, where all trading is under state control, state trading corporations deal directly with private industry in this country.

Amtorg was the agency which carried on these operations for the Soviet Union before the war.

Nurses Conclude
Workshop Parley; Security Keynote

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Representatives of 45 State Nurses' associations were on their way home today after being urged at a three-day workshop held in Chicago to work for better security for their members.

The workshop was sponsored by the American Nurses' association. Officials of the association explained the program of the group at the concluding session yesterday.

They declared: "Better employment conditions for nurses, secured through nurses' professional organizations, are an essential step in providing better nursing service to the public."

Our national program calls for improvement in hours and living conditions for the nurses; wider acceptance of the 40-hour week with no decreases in salary and minimum salaries adequate to attract and hold nurses.

Collective bargaining as one means of reaching this goal was proposed by many nurses' associations represented at the meeting.

Philadelphia Coal Supply Is Short

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Philadelphia's soft coal stockpiles were estimated today as sufficient to keep the city's power, railroad and gas plants operating for at least 30 days if the nation's bituminous miners strike at midnight Wednesday.

Industrial spokesmen said they've been building up their coal reserves since the first hint of another walk-out by John L. Lewis' 400,000 soft coal diggers.

The "freezing" of bituminous supplies by Interior Secretary J. A. Krug thus found the Quaker City's three biggest consumers better prepared to withstand a fuel stoppage than they were when the miners struck previously.

Automobile accidents and falls are responsible for more than one-half of all accidental deaths in this country each year.

It is understood that Kappler, who commanded the battalion which carried out the massacre in the Ardennes caves in March, 1944, will stand trial later in a subsequent war crimes trial.

JET PASSENGER PLANE IN FIRST INTERNATIONAL HOP

PARIS, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A reconverted heavy Lancaster bomber landed at Le Bourget airport from England today to complete the first international jet passenger plane flight in aviation history.

The plane, carrying two military passengers, took off from Northolt at 10:05 a. m. GMT (5:05 a. m. EST).

and landed at the airport near Paris 50 minutes later.

The average commercial transport flight time for the route is 75 minutes.

The flight by the jet-equipped Lancaster was scheduled for yesterday but adverse weather forced a postponement.

Walter Kallenbach, Baptist Evangelist, Instantly Killed

Blind Evangelist Who Held Meetings At First Baptist Church Dies At Canonsburg

Dr. Walter Kallenbach, blind evangelist of the Baptist denomination, was killed, Saturday enroute to Waynesburg, Pa., from Canonsburg, Pa., where he was to fulfill a speaking engagement on the Waynesburg Youth for Christ program.

It will be recalled Dr. Kallenbach conducted a successful two week evangelistic campaign in the First Baptist church here in September, 1945, and his death will be a distinct shock to the Baptist ministry throughout this area.

A former solo trumpeter with Paul Whiteman's orchestra, Dr. Kallenbach studied for the Baptist ministry, after he was blinded in a hunting accident in Virginia 20 years ago.

State police say that the blind preacher walked into the path of a car occupied by a group of hunters from Pittsburgh who were returning from a hunting trip in Washington county. Dr. Kallenbach suffered a fractured skull, fractured leg and other injuries.

UN Delegation In Philadelphia Is Seeking 'Capitol'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The Quaker City makes its bid today to become the "capitol of the world."

A United Nations site selection committee was due to arrive in Philadelphia this afternoon for a two-day inspection of the Quaker City's facilities for becoming the permanent home of the UN.

Diplomats from a number of foreign nations are to be included in the inspection party, expected to number between 25 and 30 persons. Edward Hopkinson, Jr., head of the receiving committee, declared, however, that the itinerary of the inspection party would be kept secret.

"There will be no time for a formal reception," said Hopkinson. "Without any fuss or feathers, we hope to show the UN people everything they have to see to reach a judicious decision."

"But we'll have to move quickly and adhere strictly to business all the time they're here."

DANES SEE COAL STRIKE IN U. S. HALTING EXPORTS

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Denmark's newspapers today headlined dispatches from Washington stating that the U. S. government had halted soft coal exports.

Official Danish sources said a coal strike in the United States would seriously injure Denmark's railways, industry, gas-works and commercial establishments. Imports from Germany's Ruhr area already have been reduced by 20 percent.

Denmark was slated to obtain 174,000 tons of American coal in December, plus unfilled portions of the October quota. The November supply has been only partially filled.

DUTCH RECOGNIZE INDONESIAN STATE

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A Batavia dispatch to Reuters said today the Netherlands government has recognized the Indonesian Republic as a sovereign state.

The recognition was formulated in an agreement initiated by representatives of both negotiating groups. The dispatch added that a United States of Indonesia comprising the entire territory of the Dutch East Indies will now be formed as a "sovereign democratic state on a federal basis."

More Casualties In Holy Land War

JERUSALEM, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Three Jews were wounded today in an exchange of rifle fire between resistance fighters and police in Tel Aviv where earlier a land mine explosion killed three policemen and an RAF sergeant and wounded six other persons.

The mine, electrically detonated on the road to the police camp at Sarona, blew up a police truck returning the men from a motion picture theater in Tel Aviv last night. Earlier, a British army captain was killed and another man injured by a mine explosion on a railroad track near Haifa.

The mines were believed planted by the Jewish underground. The five deaths brought to 22 the number of Britains and Arabs killed since Nov. 1 in the anti-British campaign conducted by the Jewish underground.

Planes now link Johannesburg, South Africa, with London in 47 hours.

SOVIET-BRITAIN GERMAN ZONES IN FOOD-STEEL BARTER

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—The Daily Mail said today in a dispatch from Berlin that the Russians are now sending food into the British zone of Germany in return for steel.

The newspaper reported that grain and potatoes were being shipped by sea into Baltic ports of Germany. Steel from the British zone was said to be going by rail.

The exchange was described as an outcome of negotiations undertaken by British and Soviet authorities some time ago.

The United States Army now has in use a new type, light-weight, high speed refrigerated unit for frozen food and meat distribution. A unit of this type which weighs only 7,118 pounds, has practically the same load carrying capacity as the 14,700-pound old-type unit.

Plan To Reduce Juvenile Crime To Be Given Duff

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A six-point state welfare department legislative program designed to reduce crime and combat juvenile delinquency was ready for presentation to Governor-elect James H. Duff.

The program was announced by Dr. E. Preston Sharp, director of the department's community work bureau, at a youth conservation meeting sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs. The federation reported it would ask the joint state government commission to draft legislation authorizing the governor to name a 15-member "council for children and youth" to correlate work in preventing, protective and corrective services.

In addition, the federation called for appointment of a youth counselor to whom all youths appearing in county courts would be referred.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Red-headed Arlene Dahl, a Minneapolis beauty who knew what she wanted, finally has got it.

It's a starring role in a million-dollar movie, "My Wild Irish Rose," to be exact. Arlene plays "Rose" after only one other minor part in another picture during four months in Hollywood.

"To say that I'm happy and delighted in Hollywood is to put it mildly," Arlene said, her lovely face breaking out in dimples.

"As far back as I can remember, I always wanted to be an actress. When I was in school in Minneapolis, I took part in plays and I studied dramatics.

"I left there in 1944 because I couldn't pursue a career there." It took Arlene, who's 22 and 5 feet, 7 inches tall, just two years to reach Hollywood. She first went to Chicago, where she worked as a model. Then she went to New York City, where she did some more work as a model.

Then she got on the stage, first in a musical called "Mr. Straus Goes To Brooklyn."

Then came a straight dramatic production, "Questionable Lady," which played in Philadelphia, Newark, N. J., and New Haven.

The play never reached Broadway, but it was the vehicle which landed Arlene a movie contract. A talent scout saw her in New Haven.

"When he spoke to me it never really occurred to me that I'd get a movie contract," Arlene explained. "I thought it was some sort of a routine check."

She said she had one great ambition—to become a fine dramatic actress.

"If I can get to be just half as good as Ingrid Bergman, I'll be happy," she said.

When your reporter knocked loudly on Elizabeth Scott's dressing room door, he inquired "are you asleep?" It was a silly question, because if she had been she wouldn't be any more.

But Elizabeth called out: "No, I'll be out in a minute. I'm just trying on a new pair of slacks."

She opened the door soon after and she was wearing the new ones, gray and very simple. "Do you like them?" she asked. Your reporter agreed he did. Elizabeth is a very slim and trim young lady—but he expressed the belief that slacks generally are a curse to fashions.

"I wouldn't go that far," Elizabeth said. "I like to wear them around in the mornings. I think they look all right on some women and they don't look all right on a lot of others. Those women shouldn't wear them."

We'd both spoken our little piece. Marjorie Main performed her most unusual chore Friday night. By special request of a group of students, she went down to the University of Southern California to judge a jitterbug contest.

Education Parley Opens November 21

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Approximately 600 advisory and supervisory officials were slated to attend the annual two-day education congress opening at Harrisburg November 21.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas said principal speakers will be Gen. Jacob L. Devers of York, commander of the army ground forces, and Gov. Edward Martin.

Haas said Devers was expected to discuss the army's educational program.

Dr. Robert M. Steele, state coordinator, will outline the state area college center program while Robert T. Stone, chief of the department's industrial education division, will review on the job apprentice training.

The 1947 education congress will be held at Harrisburg November 20 and 21, Haas said.

THE PICTURE IN STEEL

1939 vs. THIRD QUARTER 1946

PRODUCTION UP 55%

WEEKLY WAGES UP 63%

STEEL PRICES UP 18%

OR LESS THAN HALF A CENT PER POUND

STEEL MILLS are working day and night. Steel production is setting peace-time records. This is good news for you.

In one way or another steel helps make almost everything you use—cars, washing machines, refrigerators and countless other things.

By pushing its production to record-breaking volume, the steel industry is helping hundreds of other industries get going.

However, the mills are not yet able to supply the full demand for steel. This is largely due to the loss of 12,000,000 tons of steel production this year from strikes in steel, coal and other industries.

The mills are trying hard to make up the lost output. If the present production pace can be continued, there should be enough steel for normal needs before many months are past.

Charge Is Made Against Man In Daylight Holdup

One man in the County jail and his accomplice in the R. M. Barnes, Seventh Ward clothing store hold-up Friday morning, in which the bandit stole $862 is at large.

The man held by police is Joseph Copple, age 30, of 610 South Ray street. He was arrested by Police Captain W. G. McMullen and Detectives John Moore and John Young, Saturday morning.

He was identified by Robert M. Barnes, proprietor of the clothing store, as one of the two men who held him up, forced him into a rear room, then fled in an auto with $862, according to the police.

Copple refused to admit any connection with the robbery.

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna charged Copple with robbery by force in an information sworn before Alderman James C. Brice.

Pending arraignment Copple was committed to jail without bail.

He will be arraigned Tuesday, according to Alderman Brice.

The car used in the hold-up, like the second bandit, has not been discovered.

Outlook Dismal In Hotel Strike

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—(INS).—Pittsburgh's costly strike at eight major hotels went into its 49th day with little hope for an early settlement, following the flat rejection of a new management wage offer by union officials.

The Pittsburgh Hotels association boosted their original wage offer to 12 cents hourly for non-tip workers and 8 cents hourly for tip-receiving employees, it was reported.

In rejecting the offer, John Kenny, president of the AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance, stated that the union "cannot yield on its demand for a living wage," and charged that settlement of the strike was being delayed "because the managers want to show exorbitant profits for their out-of-town owners."

Plan Hearings On Disposal Of Oil Pipe Lines

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A congressional committee prepared today to give full airing to a dispute over the disposal of the 151 million dollar "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" oil pipe lines, a possible trump card in the government's current coal negotiations with John L. Lewis.

Two weeks of public hearings will open tomorrow before the House Surplus Property committee and Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America, has been invited to testify. The union leader, who has threatened to call his coal miners off their jobs Wednesday, has not indicated yet whether he will attend.

The government is attempting to stave off a coal strike on the eve of winter. Lewis is known to be bitterly opposed to disposing of the oil pipelines to natural gas companies on the grounds that it would leave him with the coal industry by providing a cheaper substitute fuel to consumers in northern states.

The War Assets Administration, which is faced with the task of deciding whether to sell or lease the pipelines to oil or gas companies, is considering bids for the now-idle wartime properties from 16 concerns.

Will Appear In Friday Parade

You have seen Pinocchio upon the screen, of course, and you have read of his checkered career, but did you ever see Pinocchio in the flesh? Neither did we, but both of us will have a chance to see him in rubber when the Rubber Balloon parade is held November 22 as the preliminary to the Christmas season in New Castle.

Here is a picture of Pinocchio who will be in New Castle on November 22 as the guest of the Merchants' Division of the Greater New Castle Association and with Pinocchio will be such friends as Felix the Cat, a forty-five foot rubber dog and a lot of other characters, all of them nuge in size and floating through the air with the greatest of ease.

Parade at Four
The Rubber Balloon parade, nearly two miles long by the way, will form on the pole yard of the Pennsylvania Power on South Mill street near South Croton avenue. The parade will move out at four o'clock, go down Moravia street to Long, up Long to Mill and up Mill to Washington and then over the downtown street.

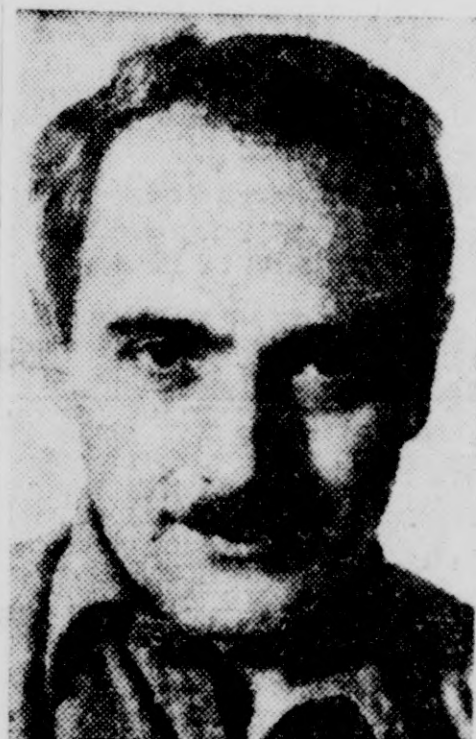

There will be bands, six of them, and in between bands will be the rubber balloon figures. Ludicrous? Of course. Interesting? Without a doubt and guaranteed to give boys and girls of three or 103 a lot of fun.

You might want to know why the parade will be held. Well it's this way. The street lighting decorations which were used before the war are not in shape to be used now and it is next door to impossible to get new ones yet. The merchants' division wanted this Christmas season to be an old time affair with lots of fun and excitement. The rubber balloon parade, long a feature of the larger cities on the Eastern Seaboard, was decided upon because of its known value to attract.

There never was a parade quite like this one will be. And if you have any influence with the weather man, have a word with him for November 22.

COLOR AND INTEREST ARE IMPORTANT IN PICTURES

Do you ever sit down and look at the pictures on your walls? Perhaps they have been hanging there so long you don't know what they look like.

It might be a good plan to examine the pictures closely to see if they are good enough to deserve the wall space they take. A good picture has artistic merit, beautiful color, or historic interest. It should be suitable in idea and color for the room in which it is placed and be well framed and well hung.

Few rather than many pictures are desirable. If in need of new pictures to fill a large space, buy one outstanding picture instead of many small ones. Your choice of a picture expresses your ideas and ideals so make your selection carefully. Children like pictures of people or animals, a picture that tells a story, and are greatly influenced by what they see in a picture. Your choice for them is very important.

Pictures must be hung low enough so that they seem to form a unit with the furniture, and a picture hung above a piece of furniture must be related to it in scale. Some times one picture may be hung over a grouping of furniture, such as over a chair and a small table together.

If the screw eyes are placed near the top of the picture frame, it will hang flat against the wall and seem like a part of it. Most pictures can be hung with no wires showing at all, but if a picture must be hung from the molding, it is well to use two hooks, one on each end of a long wire that crosses the back of the picture.

Pictures generally are hung at the eye level of a person standing, but where furniture is low, like some of the modern types, pictures may be hung at the eye level of a person when sitting down. Eye level may be described as the place in the picture that first attracts attention or the center of interest.

Senator Satisfied With U.S. Efforts On Nuclear Control

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., probable joint atomic committee chairman in the Republican congress, said Saturday he is satisfied with the administration's efforts toward world control of nuclear power.

Millikin, who is next to Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich. in seniority on the joint atomic committee, indicated he wants the chairmanship. Vandenberg is expected to take the Senate foreign relations chairmanship. Of the efforts at world agreement, Millikin said:

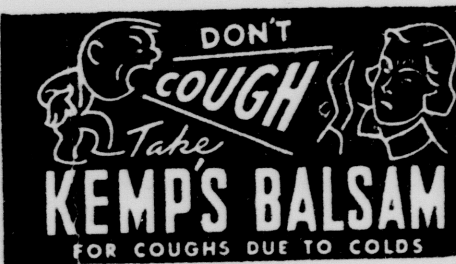

"I think our representatives on the United Nations atomic commission are pushing vigorously and intelligently for a workable plan for world control."

He added that he has no fears that the administration will go too far in compromising as a means of getting Russia to participate.

NO A-BOMB WORK AFOOT IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Chapman Pincher, science editor of the London Daily Express, said today that Britain is making no atom bombs at present and is not planning to produce any in the near future.

Pincher added that diplomatic moves to "borrow" atomic bombs from the United States have failed.

contract at the Philadelphia hospital for special training of veterans in need of aural rehabilitation, and that quotas have been established there to include men from the Pittsburgh region.

Westminster And Grove City Battle To 7-7 Tie

Shankle-McDaniels Score Touchdowns In Farrell Battle

Titans Recover Grove City Fumble In Closing Minutes, McDaniels Scores; Shankle Tallies From Four Yard Line In Second Period; Smith And Demoise Add Important Extra-Points In Final Game Of Year For Both Teams; Demoise Sparks Titans.

(Special To The News) NEW WILLIAMING, Nov. 18.—With only three minutes of play remaining in the Westminster-Grove City football game at Farrell Saturday afternoon, the Titans were trailing 7-0 and appeared to be hopelessly beaten. However, at that point Grove City fumbled on their own 41 and Westminster recovered and scored a touchdown and extra point to knot the count at 7-7 as the big hand of the clock teasingly approached the final second. That is the way it stood at the end.

What sparked the Titans in their final drive was seemingly the return of Fullback Joe Demoise to the line-up after resting from the second quarter and the substitution of Ed Rose. It was the latter who recovered the Grove City fumble on the 41 and it was the same lad who took a pass on the four yard line by Demoise from the two and Mickey McDaniels cracked the line for the important move that calmly booted the oval through the uprights to knot the count.

Groves Take Lead
Grove City took the lead in the third quarter. Their big break came when Shankle intercepted a Titan pass on Westminster's 47. Hummel swept left end to the 25. Whitehill bulled his way to the 10 and the Titans held the Crimson to two yards in three plays. Smith dropped back into the playing field. However, a Titan lineman was detected roughing the opposition on the play and the penalty placed the ball on the four from where Shankle went over. Smith kicked the extra point.

Swell Kicking Job
A marvelous exhibition of "coffin" kicking by Joe Demoise, Titan fullback, kept the Groves back on their heels in the first quarter but the Blue and White was unable to tally. The first break for the Titans came when Demoise recovered from Grove City's 47 and the leather bounced out on Grove City's one. Smith punted to his own goal line to the 22 but fumbled when hit and recovered for Grove City.

Shankle intercepted the 39 yard pass from Demoise to his own 47. Demoise then quickly kicked out of bounds on Grove City's five. The Titans then had a golden opportunity when Smith's punt slipped off his toe and went out on Grove City's 17. Demoise went to the 12 and McDaniel went off right tackle to the eight. Demoise picked up a yard and it was first down on the 12. An erratic pass from center pushed the Titans back to the 15. Demoise then attempted a place kick but Taylor broke through and blocked it.

Titan Drive Fails
Early in the second quarter the Blue and White was again in striking position. Smith kicked out from

Shenango Hi Must Rebuild Cage Machine

Mayberry Only Regular Back From Tri-County Champion Five Of 1945-46

Around the lanky figure of Doc Mayberry, tall Shenango high center, will revolve the basketball activities of the Wildcats this winter on the class "B" hardwoods.

Big Doc is the lone survivor of the graduation sweep which took such aces as Paul and "Lefty" Tanner, Back Badger, and Eddie McGuire from Coach Eddie Nahas' fold. The left-handed Tanner was one of the greatest athletes at the school in many years and his great play will be missed when the leather starts flying through the hoops in early January.

"Put us down for about fifty in the loop," said Nahas today as he called his lads in their first practice session of the season. "We have a big rebuilding job to do, and not much to do with."

The "Cat" mentor is of course going to use Mayberry as his pivot man and left to use are Julian Owens, Johnny Cochran and Ronny Johns, reserves of the past campaign. Johns came along fine to play cow ball in the tri-county tournament at Evans City.

"Nothing is set yet for this season," added Nahas, "positions on the team will be determined by the fight and spirit shown by the candidates. We will have to do a lot of experimenting as we go along."

The Shenango tutor thinks that this season's league race will be between Mr. Jackson and Bessemer. Both have veteran lineups, and Union, with a fine array, may be the dark-horse of the circuit.

"I like the Centurians this year," said Nahas. "In Paul Madrid they have the best play-maker in the league and with Medick, Tonya and others they may be just too tough."

Following is the Shenango schedule. The pre-league games are subject to change, it was announced:

Ted Williams Most Valuable

American League Writers Pick Boston Slugger '46's Most Valuable

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder who was the goat of the world series, found solace today in his selection as the most valuable American league player of 1946.

Received 224 points, Hal Newhouse finished second with 197. Next came two more Red Sox players, Bobby Doerr with 141. Mickey Vernon of Washington was fifth with 134.

The award is made by the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The poll, taken during the last week of the regular season, naturally did not take world series performances into account. Williams will receive the Kenesaw Mountain Landis annual plaque. Each voter named ten players in all-around value with 14 points allotted for a first place ballot, nine for second, eight for third and so on.

Among those receiving one or more votes for first place were Bob Feller, Dave Ferriss and Hank Greenberg, the sixth, seventh and eighth players ranking most valuable.

Williams batted .342 last season. He hit 38 home runs and batted in 123 tallies.

John Lawther, Penn State basketball coach, is looking forward to his 11th year at the Nittany Lion helm.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

PROFESSIONAL football has gained such a reputation for efficiency and skill that many fans think of the top pro teams as virtually invincible. As a matter of fact, only three teams have been undefeated during a regular season in all the history of the National Football league. These were Canton, 1922-23; Green Bay, 1929, and the Chicago Bears, 1932 and 1934. And both Canton and Green Bay were tied.

Pro football goes all-out for aerial play, for daring offensives against teams of top caliber, few teams in the pro leagues can expect to go through a season unscathed. A puppy loses his milk teeth and attains permanent teeth at about four months. . . . Mule deer are so called because of their ears. They are almost twice as long as those of the white-tailed deer. . . . Trout sometimes make a raspy, noise when taken off the hook due to change of pressure in the air bladder, says Sports Afire.

The top college football teams draw good gates and heavy publicity. For these reasons it seems that they must encounter little trouble in booking games. As a matter of fact, they sometimes encounter a great deal. A college which comes up with a crack eleven year after year is a discouraging proposition for other institutions.

Rival coaches don't enjoy losing annually to any team. They often use their influence to have perennial winners dropped from their schedules. Right now a lot of teams have discovered that they have such formidable reputations other colleges are refusing to arrange meetings with them. The teams that are really good year after year, are much avoided by colleges considerate of prestige.

Six firearms accidents marked the opening of the Iowa hunting season. Two of the victims died. At least nine dead and more than 30 injured are the human toll of the Wisconsin season to date and the conservation department warns that the state is well on its way to a new hunting accident record.

New Castle Saxons Trip Farrell 39-37
New Castle Saxon basketball team opened the Saxon league season Saturday night with a stunning 39 to 37 win over the Farrell Saxons at the Farrell High floor. Next Saturday the New Castle Saxons will open the home season by playing a strong Cleveland Saxon quintet at Franklin Junior High floor, it was announced.

Starring for the New Castle Saxons in the thrilling opener at Farrell were Johnny Binder with 16 points and "Moo" Miller with 12 points. The local Saxons were coached by the veteran floorman, Bill Olson, a returned war veteran.

The committee said that West Point authorities are believed to be in a "receptive mood" toward the bid.

The University of Georgia was mentioned as a possible opponent for Army.

Penn State's Negro star, Wallace Triplett II, is one of six brothers who played football at Cheltenham (Pa.) high school.

Springdale High Class A Champs

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Springdale high school today held the WPIAL class A football crown after skinning by the defending titleholders, Dormont, in a 21-20 victory.

Young Alex Kozma led the new class A champs in their victory march, scoring all but one of Springdale's points in the game played Saturday at Clairton. Kozma skirted an end late in the fourth quarter and then smashed off tackle for the winning conversion. It was the tenth consecutive win for Springdale.

Steelers Defeat Favored Eagles

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—(INS)—A jubilant Pittsburgh Steelers football squad took a well-earned rest after coming from behind in the final minutes yesterday to overcome the favored Philadelphia Eagles 10-7.

Before a sell-out crowd of nearly 39,000, Coach Jock Sutherland's protégés, led by Left Halfback Bill Dudley, upset the dope sheets and took over second place behind the New York Giants in the National Pro league race for the eastern division title.

Meet Giants Next
The Steelers will meet the Giants in New York next Sunday.

Two pass interceptions set up Pittsburgh's scores. Dudley made his eighth steal of the season and returned an Eagle aerial 44 yards to the Philadelphia one-yard line to set up the first tally, made by reserve Fullback Steve Lach.

Tony Compagno grabbed the second stray in mid-field and raced 40 yards to put the Steelers in position for Dudley's field goal.

The Virginian boosted the deciding three-point in the final 40 seconds.

The anticipated ground-gaining battle between Dudley and Steve Van Buren of the Eagles resulted in 43 yards in 17 tries for Van Buren and 34 in 15 for the Steeler ace.

Other pro league scores Sunday were as follows: Boston Yanks 28; New York Giants 28; New York Yanks 19—San Francisco 9; Cleveland Browns 51—Chicago Rockets 14; Los Angeles Dons 19—Brooklyn Dodgers 14; Chicago Bears 24—Washington Redskins 20; Green Bay Packers 9; Detroit Lions 6; Los Angeles Rams 17—Chicago Cardinals 14.

Thompson Is New Washington Coach
Former Assistant At Union High Given Head Coaching Job At Washington High

Announcement has been made by Superintendent of Schools Frank L. Burton of the appointment of Joseph Thompson, former assistant at Union High to Pat Patterson, and now a physical education teacher at New Castle High, as the new basketball coach for George Washington Junior high.

Thompson takes over in place of Art Alexander, who coached by football and basketball at Washington for a number of years. The salary has been set at $175 by the New Castle school board. Thompson will take quite a bit of basketball experience to the North Hill school and will find a lot of material waiting him.

High Floormen Start Working, Lack Veterans

Head Coach Bill Douglass Prunes Down To 30 Men As Practices Begin

Head basketball coach Bill Douglass and his assistant, Clark McClelland, began the task today of getting New Castle High's 1946-47 basketball team ready for the first pre-season game with Youngstown East on the Washington High floor Friday, December 6.

There will be but three weeks to get ready in and a lot of work has to be done before the New Castle team is ready for the first bell.

From a group of 225 boys who answered the call for basketball, Douglass has pruned the squad down to 30 players.

Not Many Veterans
New Castle faces the coming floor season with a lack of veteran material. From the varsity team last year only Don Black and Gene Gribble are left, with such stars as Dick Whitaker, Al Kozela and "Doc" Damaskon gone, the latter having moved to Gary, Ind.

Stan Grybowski, a big boy, would have fit in the picture nicely this year, due to his height, but a football injury at camp may keep him sidelined with a very weak leg, having suffered a broken bone.

From the reserve team last year Coach Douglass will find available such fine performers as Phil Richards, "Chick" Ray, Don Spears, Paul Cuba, Jr. and Jim Marcotuli. It may be that Douglass, starting his first year as floor mentor, will find enough material in the reserves from last year to give New Castle a winning club.

Seeking Game
Workouts for a while are being held at senior high floor, Douglass announced.

Faculty Manager Robert Mills is busy trying to locate a team for the December 10 date held by Kiski Prep, that has been cancelled, due to Kiski not conforming to the WPIAL rules.

The painting situation which has been a bother to put it mildly, to the Pitt coaches all year appears to be somewhat alleviated. Wes Fessler used George Match, Clairton freshman, twice in spot roles against Ohio and he came through both times with good boots.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Preparations for the annual Rose Bowl game at Pasadena have developed into an unprecedented tangle this year due to army's seeming willingness to participate and the reported ungentle demand from the big nine that it be invited.

Army has never before figured prominently in plans for the New Year's Day box office payoff, and the only current member of the western conference, or so-called big nine, ever to play in the game was Ohio State, beaten 28 to 0 by California in 1921.

Golden Shocks
Now, everybody wants to get into tournament of roses act, and for good reasons — that harvest of boffos. Sordid gold, they call it. The game has drawn as many as 93,000 spectators, and by this time the big nine and most of the other schools are looking with what is called a bawling eye at the south.

The teams from Dixie have been out there so often that they are regarded as a part of the west coast scenery, a situation which won't prevail henceforward. The big nine is about to provide the eastern representative from here on out against the coast champion each year, unless the big nine persists in maintaining a permanent post when Army gets the invitation.

Big Nine Interested
The big nine is understood to have decided not to play in the bowl after this year, unless invited for the forthcoming game.

The south, of course, will be bypassed and the leading teams in Dixie thus will try to bustle their way into the Sugar Bowl, the Orange Bowl, and others in their own section. The southwest conference, which was represented by Southern Methodist in the 1936 Rose Bowl game, has its own Cotton Bowl.

Fairly Lucrative
Such teams as Harvard, Penn. Columbia and Notre Dame have gone west for the Rose Bowl competition once each in the past, but called it a day after that and won't return any time in the near future. That goes double, if the big nine is successful in sewing up the Rose Bowl payoff on a long-term lease. Each team usually gets upwards of $100,000, making this the most lucrative "amateur" event in the land.

During a stretch of 20 years, from 1926 through last season, the south took more money out of the classic than any other section except the coast itself, which automatically qualifies by providing the host team.

Alabama Goes Often
Alabama beat Washington, 20 to 19, in that first foray by a Dixie eleven in the game, in 1926, and has returned four times since to get a record of three wins, a tie and one defeat in five starts. Duke and Tennessee each have played in two Rose Bowl games, and Georgia Tech, Tulane and Georgia in one each. In all, the south has won five, lost five and tied two.

Whether the invited team turns out to be Army or the champion of the big nine, the bowl battle again this year will be a whole of a ball game, with the visiting team likely to be favored. With that, however, you do not get a written guarantee. The under dogs pick these spots to do their winning.

Bear Hunters Out In Force

Five-Day Bear Season Opens Today, One Bear Per Hunter For Season, Is Limit

HARRISBURG, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's 1946 five-day bear season began today at seven a. m. Seth Gordon, director of the State Game commission said reports of bear damage indicated that bears would be plentiful and predicted that the kill may top the 400 mark.

Hunting must end at five p. m. daily and individuals have been limited to one bear during the season while hunting parties of three or more sportsmen may kill two of the animals.

Abundance Of Bear
Bears must be at least one year old to be killed, Gordon explained. As an indication of the abundance of bear he pointed to the 90 claims totaling nearly $3000 which have been paid farmers and landowners for sheep and beehive damage done by bears.

The 1945 general assembly boosted the commission's bear indemnity fund from $3000 to $5000 for the 1946-47 fiscal year. Last year sportsmen killed 366 bear while in 1944 the bag totaled 295.

Tendler Predicts Mouzon Will Win

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—(INS)—Low Tendler, a fast-stepping boy in his ring days, predicted today that 20-year-old Wesley Mouzon will wrest the title from Champion Bob Montgomery when they meet in Philadelphia's Convention hall Nov. 26.

Mouzon already boasts a knockout over the Bobcat at Shibe park last summer in a non-title bout.

A retired lightweight who failed in two cracks at the title held by Benney Leonard, nearly a quarter-century ago, Tendler declared that "Mouzon has the youth, the speed and the punch to beat Montgomery."

Terminal Leave Bonds Can Be Used To Pay Insurance

Veterans Administration Will Accept Bonds In Payment Of Insurance. It Is Announced

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—Veterans Administration announced today that special forms are available at all VA offices in this area for use of ex-servicemen who wish to apply their accrued leave bonds toward payments on National Service or Government Life Insurance.

This is in line with recent War department announcements to the effect that checks and bonds were to be mailed this week to thousands of ex-GIs in this area who have applied for the terminal leave pay authorized by a recent act of Congress.

G. Frank Hartigan, insurance officer for the VA regional office at Pittsburgh, said that qualified personnel are on hand at all VA offices to assist veterans in assigning their bonds and to give them up-to-date information regarding their G. I. insurance.

Although the "terminal leave" bonds, authorized by the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946 are not issued by the VA, the law specifically provides that these bonds can be accepted by the VA in connection with service life insurance payments.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.
